"GERMANY MUST PAY," DECLARES NEW GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE

Poincaré's Aggressive Statement Asserts Reparations Dominate European Economic Situation and Outlines Strongly Nationalistic Policy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Jan. 19.—"Germany must pay," was the keynote of the new French government's declaration of policy read to the chamber of deputies this afternoon by Premier Poincaré.

The attitude of the new cabinet is aggressive and strongly nationalistic. The chief points are:
1.—Germany must fulfill all her indemnity obligations.
2.—Reparations dominate the economic recovery of Europe.
3.—If it is discovered that Germany is evading payments an Allied control mission should be sent to Berlin to supervise strictly all German finances.
4.—Germany must punish her war criminals in a manner to fit the demands of justice.
5.—The Allies have the right to impose new penalties upon Germany to enforce their demands.
6.—France has the right to postpone evacuation of the Rhineland.
7.—France will continue to participate in the league of nations.
8.—France will not accept the invitation to attend the international economic conference at Geneva unless all nations accept the protocol conditions laid down at Cannes.

9.—The clauses of the Versailles treaty are not open to debate at Geneva or elsewhere.
10.—If there is an Anglo-French treaty of alliance France must enter on an equal footing as England.
11.—Reorganization of the national military defense.
12.—Reduction of the term of military service.
13.—Enforcement of complete disarmament of Germany.
14.—Proposal to reach an agreement with Great Britain and Italy to prevent a renewal of warfare between the Greeks and Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor.
15.—Recognition of the Angora peace. (Angora being the seat of the Turkish Nationalist government.)

Assurances were given that the government would be conducted economically. There was a tense and dramatic movement when the premier faced his friends and political foes in the chamber. Stormy scenes appeared, but the adherents of the premier were positive that he would receive an overwhelming vote of confidence.

"All our efforts to save the French financial situation will fail unless Germany executes all the obligations she has taken to repair the damage she did," said the premier.

"It is easy to locate the source of the shameful propaganda that is representing France's intentions and her attitude as imperialistic. It is madness to accuse us of nurturing secretly suspicious aims as if the war had not inflicted enough widows and sacrifices."

"Germany is systematically wasting her resources while she pretends to be insolvent. Germany is less taxed than France. Germany does not collect taxes, but prints money, thus depreciating currency in favor of exporters. She permits industrialists to invest in foreign enterprises and organize misery. Her corporations pay enormous dividends. Her factories are working at full capacity and increasing daily. If the government is ruined the nation is becoming richer. But it is the entire nation that is the guarantor of the treaty of Versailles."

"It is unnecessary to add that we will attempt to conserve the friendship relations with all peoples that fought by our side for humanity, especially the United States, whose cooperation so much contributed to the common victory and who has just given at the Washington conference brilliant proof of her noble sentiments."

As the premier referred to further sanctions for Germany, the whole chamber applauded vigorously.

"See Senator McCormick," shouted the Communist members as M. Poincaré spoke of the United States.

RECORDS MISSING IN MORSE CASE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 19.—Important records needed by the federal grand jury in investigating charges of conspiracy and embezzlement against Charles W. Morse, New York financier and shipbuilder, are missing and the progress of the case has been delayed, according to a report to Attorney General Daugherty today from United States Attorney Gordon of the District of Columbia.

Gordon is understood to have indicated that the work of the grand jury had "struck a snag" pending the unearthing of vital facts contained in the missing records.

At The Benedictine Hospital.
The Leo V. Grogan ambulance service conveyed George Wilson from Lexington, N. Y., to the Benedictine Hospital Wednesday afternoon and Ernest Schermerhorn from the Ulster & Delaware train this morning to the Benedictine Hospital.

$65,000 GAS CO. BONDS ARE SOLD

Although the Kingston Gas and Electric bond sale has been in progress but a few days, $65,000 of the $200,000 worth offered have been subscribed for. The campaign began on Monday, although a few subscriptions were received Friday and Saturday, and has been conducted without personal solicitation.

Advertisements, chiefly in the local newspapers, have evidently presented the securities in the light which they were intended to, namely, a good investment for those of small incomes, as well as those of large means. The bonds, which bear an attractive rate of interest, are procurable in denominations as small as $100 and may be bought on a weekly payment plan that is directly in line with the thrift movements now general throughout the country.

MURDER SUSPECTED

Of Woman Found Unconscious on Burning Bed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 19.—Aroused by smoke, occupants of the rooming house at No. 222 East Seventieth street, today broke into the room occupied by Mrs. Agnes Herlihy, aged 41, and found her unconscious and lying upon a bed under which a fire of newspapers was burning briskly.

The woman died without regaining consciousness and the police believe that she may have been murdered. Two physicians said that either the fire or suffocation had caused death. A man who was said to have been living with the woman was detained by the police pending an autopsy.

A man and the woman rented the room January 7, giving the names of Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien. The woman's real name was established through insurance papers.

NEW MANAGER OF HOME BUREAU

Miss Jennie Fisher, With Extensive Experience, to Succeed Miss Stuart February 1.

Miss Jennie Fisher, formerly of Ohio, has been appointed Home Bureau manager for Ulster county to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Stuart's resignation. Miss Fisher is a graduate of the University of Ohio. While there she specialized in home economics, securing a B. S. degree.

Ulster county is particularly fortunate in securing Miss Fisher, who has had unusually wide experience in extension work, including county home bureau work in Montgomery county, Ohio, boys and girls club work in the same state and farmers' institute work in New York state.

In addition, Miss Fisher has had experience in social service work in Columbus, Ohio, with the International Institute of the Y. W. C. A. and the District Nursing Association, and as an instructor of chemistry at the Ohio State University.

Of special interest to many in Ulster county will be the fact that Miss Fisher was born in Holland, received her early education there, and spent a large part of last year in Holland. Miss Fisher comes to the county with the highest recommendations as the result of her splendid work and unusual accomplishments in her other fields of work.

Miss Fisher will be in the county working with Miss Stuart from now until February 1, when she will assume her active duties as manager.

TEMPLE OF MUSIC HEAD IS IN BANKRUPTCY

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed in New York by Max Estrin, proprietor of the Temple of Music at 273 Main street, Poughkeepsie, and also a store at Elleville, N. Y. Joseph Moroschauer, Jr., has been appointed receiver by Harry Arnold, referee in bankruptcy. The liabilities are listed as $36,000 and the assets $31,000.

The application for the appointment of a receiver was made by John B. Vandewater, representing the W. R. Andrews Company of Syracuse, the largest creditor, having a claim of $8,000. Mr. Vandewater is attorney for the receiver, while Harold H. Jacobs is attorney for Mr. Estrin.

Mr. Estrin has been in business in Poughkeepsie a little over three months and has but few local creditors, and these for small amounts. It is stated. The stock of the Poughkeepsie store will be sold out while the Elleville store will be offered as going business. The Victor agency has already been taken over by the Hickok Music Company.

INCREASED ACREAGE PLANNED BY ULSTER FRUIT GROWERS

Nursery Agents Report Large Orders for Trees and Grape Vines.

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star says:
Fruit growers are putting in orders for nursery stock this winter in a way that assures a considerable increase in the acreage of grapes and tree fruit next spring. Not only is this true of the fruit belt around Milton and Marlborough, but in other sections as well. Representatives of nurseries report many growers talking of putting out more apples and grapes.

Apples are the biggest sellers, with the Delicious first in demand, followed by the Rome Beauty, King David and Stayman's Winesap. One order for apples for a local grower who increased his acreage, calls for 3,000 trees.

Many growers still have faith in peaches and one grower ordered 2,000 trees. The new J. H. Hale peach is the leader in demand and the Elberta is a close second, with Carmen and Greensborough first among early varieties.

Many pear trees are also being ordered and King Karl and Seckels are both big leaders. Quite a number of quinces have also been sold, with the Van Deeman being the variety in the lead. The demand for crabapples is fairly good and the Florence is going to be the most planted.

Grapes continue to be a favorite fruit and local growers have placed orders for over 200,000 vines. Concord is still the favorite variety here with the Bacois following.

In the cherries the sour varieties are most in demand with the Montmorency leading. The sweet cherries in the greatest demand are Stark's Gold and Royal Anne.

Another man says that the local demand has not only been good but that he has placed many good orders farther away. He sold his largest order to A. Cornell of Wallkill, who apparently still has faith in peaches—for he is putting out 1,500 trees, as well as 500 apple trees. C. I. Purdy, who has large orchards near Stormville in Dutchess county, has ordered 1,500 more apple trees. Some of the fruit orchardists around Lattinburg are planning to put out increased acreages. C. A. Wootley Sons are buying more grapes while C. E. Conby will plant grapes and tree fruit around Milton.

Mr. Donovan has ordered 200 apple trees to increase his orchards. Curt Northrup will plant more apples and pears and a number of others have placed orders for nursery stock.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 19.—Face powder swallowed by mistake for medicine today caused the death of Anderson Buchanan, a 22-year-old law student.

CHINA REFUSES TO BE SIDETRACKED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 19.—Temporarily defeated in their efforts to compel the Washington conference to consider the validity of the famous 21 demands, but grimly determined to force the issue again at the first opportunity, the Chinese delegates were laying plans today to keep the powers in Washington until they get a flat "yes" or "no" to their representations.

The 21 demands, a spokesman for the Chinese delegation said, are to be the conference and will remain there until China is "freed from the Japanese yoke" or until the world powers here assembled admit their policy is unwilling to aid China in obtaining redress for her wrongs.

A substitute resolution for Article Four of the open door resolution was being drafted today for presentation to the conference at the first opportunity. It will provide an avenue for the conference to approach the 21 demands and if it fails again, the Chinese will be forced back on their last resort—the item in the agenda which calls for consideration of "existing commitments."

There was resentment in Chinese quarters today over the fact that the British has aided Japan in killing Article 4 of the open door resolution. Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, was the author of the section but it was withdrawn by the British delegation on a motion of Sir Robert Borden of Canada.

"As a matter of fact," said a Chinese delegate, "the abrogation of the 21 demands means more to Great Britain than to any country except China herself. British merchants have long protested against Japanese encroachments, but because of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, which is still in force, Great Britain has been compelled to keep silent."

Today the powers planned to drive another wedge into the Chinese open door to assure further that there shall be "equal economic and commercial opportunity for all" in China. It will be accomplished through the adoption of two resolutions on Chinese railways, one (labeled by Secretary of State Hughes, and the other by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador).

The Geddes resolution pledges the powers and China herself to insure equality of treatment for all nations in the operation of the Chinese railways, and the Hughes resolution puts the powers on record as favoring the unification of the Chinese railway system with a maximum of Chinese control.

This railway discussion may bring the first test of the conference attitude toward Russian interests, as it involves the Chinese eastern railway which outskirts the boundary of Manchuria and Siberia. The road was constructed originally by Russian Chinese banking interests, and is now under control of an international commission. How far the powers in Washington, particularly Japan will go in observing the "neutral trusteeship" for Russian interests will be revealed by the attitude taken on the all-important Far Eastern artery of traffic.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BOWEN

LAUGHING JACKASS

"First of all I will tell you a funny story," said the Laughing Jackass. "And if you say it is not the thing to laugh at one's own stories I can't help it, for I must laugh at mine. Not so much because I think it is so exuberantly funny, or if you would, have me talk more simply, extremely funny, but because it is so funny and so it is my time for laughing."

"But I will tell sitting by himself, you the story first."

So the other birds in the zoo listened while the Laughing Jackass told this story:

"There was once a little girl. She was the daughter of a mother who was just like her, except older. The mother thought she was beautiful and she was very vain. The little girl was very vain, too."

"And oh, she was very, very comely."

"Now one day she said that people were always looking at her because she was so pretty."

"Everywhere she went she knew that she attracted attention."

"She had often asked other little girls if they hadn't noticed how people smiled as they passed her and looked at her pretty face."

"Some of the little girls said they had never noticed it and so were not spoken to again. But they had told the truth at any rate. For she imagined she was far prettier than she was."

"Yet her imagination and her mother kept telling her how lovely a creature she was to look at."

"Now one day she was sitting in the dining-car of a train. Her mother had a headache and had had a cup of tea taken to her car."

"The little girl was sitting by herself in the dining-car and very proud was she to be doing so grown-up a thing."

"A lady came and sat down beside her. They were going along the shore of a magnificent river. From time to time she gazed out."

"As she did so she could feel the lady was looking at her. She was glad she had decided to wear her little red hat on the journey."

"That was by far her most becoming hat. She felt the lady was enjoying looking at her too! For she could have taken other seats in the car but instead had chosen to sit along side of her."

"After awhile the little girl looked in the lady's direction. But she was looking at the river admiringly, steadily. Then she heard her speak to a woman across the aisle."

"I am desperate," she said, "if I don't get a seat on this side of the train, for I can never see too much of this glorious river."

"Now wasn't that the best joke on the little girl? Here she had been thinking she was being admired and it was the river being admired all the time. She lost a great deal of her conceit that day and did not talk so much about her beauty!"

"I heard some children telling that story as they stood in front of me but I didn't laugh about it then as it was during the middle of the day."

"I like to laugh in the morning just as birds like to sing then and also in the evening just as birds do a good deal of chattering at that time."

"I think I'll sing a song about my laughter."

The birds all urged the Laughing Jackass to do this.

So he sang in his curious hoarse voice a song which in our language would be this:

"I laugh in the morning"

"And I laugh at night,"

"And I laugh any other time,"

"When laughter's in sight!"

"Now this I hope"

"Will please you."

"For you know I'm a friend,"

"And not a foe!"

"That you'll put me in a story funny"

"And you needn't bother to pay me money."

"For I'll be funny free of cost,"

"For if I weren't, my fun might be lost."

"Oh, I'm certainly, certainly happy now."

"That space in the papers they'll me allow."

And the Jackass laughed heartily once more so as to make every one around think he was funny, for to tell you the truth, he wasn't so sure about it himself!

Ralph's Preference.

After the turkey had disappeared little Ralph remarked:

"Mama, I'd rather be a wild turkey than a tame one."

"Why, dear?" queried his mother.

"Because a wild turkey can run around on the prairie all his life, and a tame one gets killed every year."

A FEW NUT SALADS

The amount of nuts added to any combination used as a salad adds greatly to its nutritive value.

Peanut Salad.—Take one head of lettuce, wash and separate the leaves, then wrap and put away to drain. Remove the seeds from a green pepper, also the white membrane, and cut the pepper into wafer-like slices. Rub the skins from one cupful of peanuts and chop coarsely. When ready to serve, place the lettuce in a salad bowl, scatter the pepper and nuts over it and decorate with forms cut from pimento. Season well with salt, paprika and pepper. Serve with French or boiled dressing.

Cream Cheese, Grape and Pecan Salad.—Take one pound of California grapes, remove the seeds and mix with one-quarter pound of pecan nuts broken in bits; add French or mayonnaise dressing and place on head lettuce. Take one cream cheese, mix with cream to soften, then press through a ricer over the salad. Decorate with halved nuts and forms cut from canned red peppers.

Almond and Banana Salad.—Peel and scrape three bananas, cut in quarters lengthwise and sprinkle with lemon juice. Chop one-half pound of salted almonds very fine; roll the bananas in them. Arrange on head lettuce and sprinkle with seeded grapes. Pour over French dressing made by using lemon juice instead of vinegar.

Walnuts and Potato Salad.—Chop six cold boiled potatoes, one-half cupful of nut meats, one small cooked beet, three or four pickles, a stalk of celery, one-half of a green pepper, finely shredded, and one cupful of thick, rich, highly-seasoned boiled dressing. Dress into a mold and let stand to chill; serve on lettuce that has been sprinkled with onion juice.

Hard Sauce.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of powdered sugar, then fold in the stiffly beaten white of an egg. Cream may be used in place of the egg, whipped until stiff, using two tablespoonfuls of butter instead of the half cupful.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Jan. 18.—On Tuesday afternoon, January 17, Mrs. William S. Elwyn and daughter, Ruth, were the charming hostesses to a party of eighteen ladies, who gathered at their home to give a splendid and rousing surprise, together with a miscellaneous shower to Mrs. Peter P. Longendyke in honor of her birthday. The color scheme used in decorating was pink and white. The many gifts received were both beautiful and useful. A sumptuous buffet luncheon was served, consisting of sandwiches, cakes, candy, etc. Mrs. Fannie Elwyn presided at the coffee urn while Mrs. Norman Elwyn poured tea. Miss Ruth Elwyn assisted by the Misses Ada Russell and Florence Peper served the ladies. Mrs. William S. Elwyn, an accomplished pianist, gave several musical numbers following the luncheon, the first being a piano and vocal solo entitled, "Happy Lil Gal." Others of equal merit followed. At about 4:30 well wishes were in order to which Mrs. Longendyke responded in her usual jovial manner. After thanking the hostesses for their hospitality and a pleasant afternoon, the ladies left for their various homes. A happy crowd. Among those present were: Mrs. George Elwyn, Mrs. W. A. Covey, Mrs. L. H. Elwyn, Mrs. Henry Peper, Mrs. William S. Elwyn, Mrs. Fannie Elwyn, Mrs. Bessie Snyder, Mrs. Marie Peper, Mrs. Anna C. Short, Mrs. O. S. Elwyn, Mrs. Arthur Wolven, Mrs. C. Eltherington, Miss Florence Peper, Mrs. Norman Elwyn, Mrs. Fred Elwyn, Miss Ada Russell, Miss Ruth Elwyn, Mrs. P. Longendyke.

Writer Asserts That "Flu" Is Spread by Practice of Doffing the Hat in Salutation.

Influenza has always been widely mysterious in its operations. Long ago one of our warships was off the west African coast, says London Answers, when a dense black mist advanced from the shore and swept over the vessel. All the men on deck at the time were stricken down with the "flu"; and a little later the remainder of the men and officers were attacked. The ship was at once ordered home, and, though many of the cases were complicated with pneumonia and bronchitis, none, luckily, proved fatal. The patients were treated with cinchona bark and ammonia, which was then a recognized formula for malarial fevers.

During the devastating epidemic of "flu," the Turks in Europe escaped because, it is said, they never removed their turbans. The medical faculty of Vienna officially declared that influenza was largely due to the practice of doffing hats in the streets. In support of this contention, it was pointed out that the great majority of the victims were of the male sex. A traveler found influenza to be unusually severe in Mexico, where, as he remarked, there is so much hat-doffing.

It may be the case, however, that such a large proportion of males are attacked because of the constant strain on their vitality by the nature of their daily occupation. The writer was recently informed by a high medical authority in London that influenza epidemics of late years showed the principal sufferers to be male persons who had reached the most active years of their lives.

LEARN FROM THE ELEPHANT

Be Careful Where You Step and Take Credit When Due, by No Means Bad Advice.

A circus man says that an elephant is always careful where he steps. He goes forward one step at a time, and doesn't lose his hold upon one place of security until another is gained. If many of our business men had acquired this elephant philosophy and had followed it they wouldn't be hanging over financial precipices now.

If one goes about thinking that the world is filled with crooks and schemers, the world is filled with crooks and schemers. On the other hand, if one believes that the world is filled with one's neighbors, kindly folks, one has people of that class in the great majority.

It isn't well to have too much humility. The man who gets into the habit of refusing to take credit for the good work he does is quite apt to be surprised when he discovers that people accept his donations as the truth. It is much better to be like the little girl in the old story who, when she was asked, "Who made you?" replied, "God made me that length," indicating with her hands the ordinary size of a new-born babe, and I grew the rest myself."—Forbes Magazine.

Shopping in Ecuador.

The common trade balance of Ecuador is a short stick carrying a suspended pan at each end and held up by a cord around the center. The weight is a rock about the size of a man's fist and, while no two of them are ever the same size, the merchant is always prepared to pledge his honor that the stone weighs a full and exact pound. The price for a commodity is almost never fixed, and as the Ecuadorian is always prepared and expects to come down somewhat from his first price, it speaks worlds for his optimism that he invariably tries to get more. The bargaining does not actually begin until you have disregarded the first figure and asked: "What is the last price?" (el ultimo precio?). In fact, I have been told voluntarily, when pricing poultry, that the price was 25 sucres, but "I can come down a little."

What Cabbages Dislike.

Some time ago, a number of scientists, by means of a device invented by an Indian savant, were able to watch a plant growing, and study the beating of what in vegetable life corresponds to the heart of an animal. An asparagus plant grows at the slow pace of one-millionth part of an inch per second, yet this device so magnifies this that, thrown upon the screen, the increase is easily seen. Plant life does not differ greatly from animal life. Place the roots in boiling water, it struggles and dies the same as the animal. A cabbage stalks being boiled as great as would your pet dog. The only difference is that the cabbage can not protest, but squirms, struggles and writhes.

An Order for One Wife.

An English traveler and author in northern Walgeria became interested in a home for freed slaves. Women and children were kept in the institution until they could be otherwise disposed of, which was generally by matrimony, in the case of the women when the author acted as a marriage broker. He says: "A Mussa soldier would come to me with a note from his commander certifying him to be a man of good character and able to support a wife or another wife, as the case might be."

"I then turned over a corner of the note and scribbled: 'To Lady Superior, Freed Slaves Home; Please let brother have one wife.'"

Can't Get Used to It.

What we hate worse than anything else in the world, except, perhaps, actual sin, is having somebody else decide what's good for us.—Ohio State Journal.

IN KIDDIES' WEAR

Velvet Is Used Widely in Frocks for the Children.

Juvenile Styles Are Exact Replicas of Types for Grownups—Doll Clothes to Match.

In the wide use of velvet for children's afternoon frocks, is again emphasized the fact that juvenile styles are exact replicas of the types for grownups. The velvet offered this season is so soft in texture that it falls in readily with slight bits of extra stiffening to the bouffant types hitherto associated with taffeta. A cherry-colored dance dress with a simple neck line shows velvet robes of the same material as its only trimming.

Novel accessory notes were introduced in the costume of a young schoolgirl, seen recently. A little tam of velours was drawn into a band of Scotch plaid. A silk medallion showing a thistle was placed at the side, through which was thrust a smart little feather at a jaunty angle. The youngster carried a waterproof schooling of matching Scotch plaid. The oriental influence that has found its way into the designs for the grownups does not belong entirely to them. Among the new baby sarques is a model in corduroy, to be had in pink, blue or white with shell stitch edge finished to accentuate the pagoda-shaped sleeves under the little butterfly sleeves.

Children's coats for sports and school wear are fashioned from Oxford cloth, chinchilla and beaver which give warmth without touch weight. Heavy fabrics with rough finishes or with colorful effects in dark-toned overplaids are well liked. Dressy effects in coats feature broadcloth and velours, while the increasing popularity of velvet for children as well as grownups is emphasized in party coat models. Some are fur trimmed, others plain and for the "littiest" girl, there is a cunning coat in black velvet with a little cape swung across the back.

Nothing will do but that dolly must have a coat made to match that worn by the child. This is easy when the coat is made at home, but smart shops, too, are showing hydrangea coats with mole collars for the six-year-old, and tiny models made in just the same style even to the fur collar, for the dolly. Wide shawl collars are to be found on all of the coats for infants. Lace and hand embroidery were used on coats of pink and white crepe de chine and one had a border of Irish lace around the deep collar. On another coat was noted a finely-plaited ruffle with trimmings of embroidery and a dress was shown to match this coat.

The kiddie suit of fur has made its appearance. It is a one-piece suit designed on the order of pajamas and made up in such furs as badger, racoon, pony, marmot, lamb and other lardy pelts.

HOMESPUN IN DARK COLORS

This is the correct and modish fabric for an all-around sport suit. Dark tones prove unusual and practical in the material selected for this box coat and straight-lined skirt.

Tams Are Quilt-Trimmed.

The crocheted tam may be a very lovely thing if made of angora wool, but a smart model of a soft gray angora was trimmed with a stiff black quilt drawn through the meshes of the cap at one side. The soft hat of velvet or wool fabric is a rival of the long popular tam with the school girl this year. One of these practical bits of headgear has a four-piece jockey gown and a soft trim that may be worn turned down or up with equally good effect. Such a hat is smart made of velvet or wool jersey cloth or of a rough tweed.

Girdles Are Gorgeous.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the new winter costumes is the belt. The belts are very gorgeous and made in jeweled effects on fabric, or are in heavy beads, in crystal and jet, or in filigree metal.

FORD, THE WONDER.

In more ways than one Henry Ford is an extraordinary figure among the country's multi-millionaires. For one thing, he seems to be perfectly willing to tell the public how rich he is and how vast is the extent of his operations. Apparently he has nothing to conceal, nothing even to regret. He told an interviewer recently that 17 years ago nobody would trust him for the price of a Thanksgiving dinner, yet last year he paid the Government $76,000,000 in taxes and his present bank balance is between $125,000,000 and $145,000,000. Was such a cash balance in a bank or banks ever before on record? Was there ever another man who personally conducted so vast a business, and was there ever another so liberal to and so popular among his employees? This amazing captain of industry is thus quoted:

My property consists of about a hundred million dollars worth of buildings, a hundred million dollars worth of machinery, and something more than a hundred million dollars in cash. As a going concern, I have no doubt that these assets could be capitalized and sold for a billion dollars. But this $121,000,000, or whatever it is that we have in the bank, means nothing to me except as a tool with which to work. I might liken it to the fly-wheel of an engine, the belt from a motor to a machine, or to the wire that feeds electricity to a trolley car. At 37¢ per watt, our materials cost us $750,000 a day. Our bank balance is therefore sufficient to pay our operating expenses for only about 100 days. All the money that comes in goes into new industries. I never invest money in bonds or anything of that kind.

CRIME AND RACE.

Luther Boddy, the young negro who recently shot and killed two detectives in New York, was caught when he escaped to Philadelphia as a result of information furnished by two members of his own race. Some of the commenting editors make a point of this, and according to the New York Times, there is "no excuse for saying that negroes will stand by each other, no matter what crime one of them may have committed." This is a questionable statement, as is shown by the very fact that the incident is remarked upon. There is a well-based old saying that the exception proves the rule. It is also well to bear in mind that, south and north, there are negroes and negroes. This is by no means the first time that negroes have given information leading to the capture of criminals of their own race. On the other hand there have been great numbers of cases of the shielding of negro criminals.

In the southern states, where all the blacks except 8.1 per cent are still congested, and where the chase of fleeing negro criminals is very frequent, it is a common thing for these criminals to be assisted by members of their race in their efforts to remain in hiding. It is only just to add, however, that this practice is not confined to negroes. It is a characteristic of undeveloped civilizations in all parts of the world, and is particularly noticeable where two races inhabit a common territory, with the weaker group, rightly or wrongly, complaining of unfair discrimination and disposed to believe that there is need of a strong group defense against a government in the hands of the stronger race.

72 LYNCHINGS PREVENTED.

According to statistics published by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, there were 64 victims of mob violence in the United States last year, the most of them being negroes and far the greater part of the lynchings occurring in the southern states where all but 8.1 per cent of the negro population is congested. More interesting than these lynching figures themselves are the figures presented by the same association showing that in 72 instances the officers of the law prevented lynchings and that 64 of these preventions of lynchings by officers of the law occurred in the southern states.

In other words more lynchings were prevented by officers of the law than actually occurred in the southern states last year. And yet the anti-lynching bill pending in congress, aiming to prevent lynchings, is based and is advocated on the assumption that the officers of the law in the southern states make no effort to interfere with lynchings, and that in order to deal with them the Federal authority should reach its arm into those states, overriding state police power and state legal authority. Under the circumstances—with continual and inevitable inter-racial friction—the south's record of lynching prevention is as satisfactory, and as promising as could reasonably be expected.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Have we any real wild honey bees?
Not native to America. We have bees that live in a wild state, in hollow trees, for instance, but they are escaped specimens, or their descendants, from domestic hives. Honey bees came from Europe, to which they are native. Three principal varieties, black, amber and striped, have been developed.

2. I have been having trouble lately with a weevil that has killed about 40 peapods, all of which had their throats bitten. How can I get rid of it?
Use a trap, baiting with a mouse, English sparrow, or chicken head. Pamphlet #23, "Trapping on the Farm," issued by U. S. Department of Agriculture, has excellent suggestions and pictures of types of traps.

3. Why do birds seem to peck and pull at their feathers?
They are performing the toilet, using the bill as comb and brush, to keep the feathers smooth. Occasionally the tiny parallel barbs that, when hooked together, make up the vane of the feather, get forced apart. If neglected, the individual feathers would deteriorate, and become unsightly. Drawing the feather through the mandibles smooths it. Then for the bill presses out a tube of oil from an oil gland at the base of the tail and spreads the least coating over the feathers, keeping them glossy, and helping them shed water.

RATHENAU WORSTS STINNES IN DEBATE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, Jan. 19.—The long and bitter struggle between the two industrial economic giants of Germany—Hugo Stinnes and Walter Rathenau—came to a head in the operations debate of the Reichstag foreign relations committee when they clashed with a violent battle of words. It was learned today. The clash occurred in the presence of the most prominent political leaders of the country and the close partisans of both men.

Herr Stinnes evidently got the worst of the debate. The discussions centered about the future of German industry and the policy the Germans will pursue at the Genoa economic conference.
Herr Stinnes declared that Dr. Rathenau's policy of making tremendous purchases of raw material would bring Germany no relief because this would affect German exchange rates. It would be equivalent, he said, to purchasing stocks of goods in foreign countries with counter values flowing into Germany.

Dr. Rathenau warmly defended his policy in a speech, and refuted the allegations of Herr Stinnes. The speech was said to have been warmly received, impressing even the reactionaries.

Philathea Class Meeting.
The Philathea Class of the Wurts Street Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. DuBois, No. 27 Hemlock avenue. The singing president, Mrs. Katherine Freidell, was presented with a silk umbrella by the members of the class. Mrs. Freidell was president for two years. About 50 were in attendance at the meeting. Mrs. Curtis Tremper, the new president presiding. After a short business session, refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed.

MARY GARDEN STICKS TO GUNS

Is Through With Foreign Dictation—She Can Run Opera Company Well As Man Says World's Best Soprano.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Rosa Raisa, world's greatest dramatic soprano, today announced her conviction that a woman is fully as competent to conduct an opera company as a man. There should be no sex line drawn, she said.

Mary Garden, a failure as manager of the Chicago Opera Association.
"Oh, no, no, no!" exclaimed Mrs. Raisa in an exclusive interview in her dressing room. "No, no—she is too typically American!"

But she was told, Lucien Muratore, the internationally famous tenor, says Miss Garden as a director, is impossible, because she is a woman, and womanlike, inclined to change her mind.

The prima donna registered mild astonishment. Her dark eyes smiled indulgently.
"Woman is much maligned at times," she said. "As for Mary Garden—well, here is an exceptional woman, typically American, with all the high qualities of the woman of this great country, ability, imagination, resourcefulness and tact. I, myself, am a Russian. I am proud of my nationality, also. But I know what American women can do!"

Your women have so much more freedom and they develop their intelligence so.
"Why should not a woman be able to conduct an opera company properly? What difference does it make—Mary Garden or Gatti Casazza? Women or men the question is not is she a woman? If it is does she know her job? I think Mary Garden does."

Mary Garden, commenting on the declaration of Muratore that he could not return to sing under her direction, said:
"Foreign dictation is a thing of the past. We are to have a little American dictation for a while and see how that works out. It is a pity to see an artist of the value of Monsieur Muratore so badly counselled."

Muratore is defendant today in an action brought by the United States district attorney charging him with violation of the contract labor law in bringing his valet, Ernest Petit and Mrs. Petit, to this country.

The famous French tenor was vigorously applauded when he appeared last night as "Romeo" in "Romeo and Juliet." Mary Garden joined in the applause.

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by using Fleischmann's yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and says plainly that the indispensable use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of treated cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

EUROPE MUST HAVE U. S. GRAIN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 19.—American farmers will pocket an excess of $100,000,000 in cash, from grain purchases which Europe will make in the United States to supply her population until next harvest, government experts estimated today. Europe's food-stuff supply are alarmingly low. Essential grains, such as wheat and corn, as well as some other foodstuffs, have dwindled to the danger point, according to official reports.

New demands will be made upon American producers to supply the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Germany, and Austria, and possibly other countries.

Large export movements of grain already are reported bound overseas and advice to the commerce and agriculture departments today indicated that a steady flow of wheat and corn and other foodstuffs, is likely to continue until the harvest abroad assure foreign populations of plenty for their needs.

Europe's demands for breadstuffs, including leading grains, alone will run probably as high as 75,000,000 bushels. There in addition, meats and other foods will be needed in large quantities.

Reports to Secretary Wallace today said that in Germany, a great grain storehouse, has only an exportable surplus of 500,000 tons so that source cannot be tapped. America will be relied upon to supply the food deficiency.

No wonder. Time works wonders—so would we if we could put in twenty-four hours every day, as Time does.

IRISH FREE STATE BEING CREATED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 19.—Amnesty for the remaining Irish political prisoners who are still in jail, is being discussed by the Sinn Féin committee and the British government committee headed by Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill. It was revealed today by E. J. Duggan, a member of the Irish committee.

"Amnesty is the first step in our negotiations," said Duggan. "We expect to reach a satisfactory agreement. We do not anticipate any difficulties. The discussions are technical. They probably will last a fortnight."

Although the experts are working at top speed on the draft of the Irish bill, which will be presented to parliament when it convenes next month, they are meeting with numerous obstacles to slow up the work. On account of the importance of the bill, they are weighing every word and phrase carefully and testing it to see that there is no legal flaw in the measure. This bill will bring the Irish Free State into actual existence when it is ratified.

DAIRYMEN'S LEAGUE MEETING AT GARDINER

There will be a Dairymen's League meeting in Callahan's Hall at Gardiner on January 23rd at 8 p. m., conducted by County President Millard Davis. He has secured the services of R. F. Lewis, an eminent speaker of the Dairymen's League, to give a special talk. Items will be taken up which will be of help to every individual dairyman.

Saw Big For Hunter. J. H. Cripman of Hunter has just purchased a Hercules drag saw and engine combined, from the Canfield Supply Company.

DON'T DOSE

Nothing is more delicate than a child's digestion. Wise physicians will tell you that much more harm has been done by indiscriminate dosing by numerous mothers than if nature had been left free to take its course. Fresh air day and night and plenty of exercise, even in the winter, lay the foundation for sturdy health in later life.

Prevent Children's Cold Troubles

When Kiddies Come In Wet and "Sniffing," Apply Vicks Over Throat and Chest to Keep Off a Cold

CHILDREN, as modern mothers know, should play outdoors daily. Colds result. How to treat colds without inward dosing, so disturbing to little stomachs, has been a problem.

Vicks answers this need. Applied externally, it can be used freely and often. Daytimes, the kiddies can continue their outdoor fun. Night-times, the windows can be opened wide, for, if the bed clothes are left loose about the child's neck, Vicks healing vapors will be inhaled until morning.

This direct treatment usually averts spasmodic croup, and if an attack does come on unexpectedly, the use of Vicks as directed frequently brings relief in 15 minutes.

Good for Grown-ups, Too

Vicks is effective in the same way for all the cold troubles of the family, grown-ups as well as kiddies—for head colds, catarrh and asthma, deep chest colds, bronchitis, incipient pneumonia, tonsillitis, sore throat and "grippy" colds. Its penetrative and rubefacient action makes it useful for dozens of daily ills, such as bruises, burns, cuts, stings, and itching skin troubles.

The DIRECT Treatment for All Cold Troubles

ABSORBED, like a liniment, and, at the same time. INHALED as a vapor, Vicks reaches immediately the congested air passages. Vicks doesn't relieve every case. No remedy can do that. But it is successful in such a large percentage of cold troubles—from head colds and sore throat down to bronchitis or deep chest colds—that we have been able for years to make the following offer:

VICKS STANDING OFFER
Buy either the 35c, 75c or $1.50 size. Use all or part of it. If you are not delighted with the results, mail us the top of the carton and the purchase price will be cheerfully refunded. Or, if you wish to try Vicks before you buy, mail the coupon below for a free sample.

How Vicks Should Be Used

For Spasmodic Croup, Children's Colds— Rub Vicks over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved, then spread on thickly and cover with a hot flannel cloth. One application at bed time usually prevents a night attack of croup.

For Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis, Coughs— Vicks should be applied over the throat and chest—if necessary, first using hot, wet cloths to open the pores of the skin—then rubbed in well until the skin is red; spread on thickly and covered with one or two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. If the cough is annoying, a small piece the size of a pea can be swallowed every few hours.

For Head Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever— Vicks should be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little can be applied up the nostrils and snuffed up the head.

Used as a Liniment, Poultice or Plaster— On account of its penetrative and rubefacient effect on the skin, Vicks has been found excellent for many minor ailments, such as Bites, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Frost bites, Itchings, Muscular Soreness, Poison Ivy, Sunburn, Headache and Sore Calloused Feet.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Big Snow Storms of the Past Recalled—City Hall Lodger Tells Why Houses Now Have Second Story Porches—The Tale of the Snowbound Deer.

"That was quite a heavy fall of snow we had last week," remarked one of the regular lodgers in the city hall lockup.

"Yep," replied another "but the worst we had in some time was that storm of February 5, 1920, when traffic was tied up for some time."

"Talking about heavy storms," interrupted a transient lodger, "you fellows don't know what heavy snow falls are. Why, I can remember the time when so much snow fell in our part of the country that you had to climb out of the second story window and don a pair of snow shoes in order to leave the house."

"Unburden yourself," said the other, seeing that the stranger had a tale to unfold.

"I can remember," continued the stranger, "that in our section there was just one family who lived in a bungalow, and they had rather an exciting experience of it, for after the storm had subsided all that could be seen of the house was part of the big chimney."

"We knew that unless they were rescued soon they would likely smother for lack of fresh air, and so we got a number of neighbors together and we all snow shod over to the place. We found that it was no use thinking of digging down to the front door for it would take a day or more steady shoveling to clear away the snow from the front entrance."

"While we were discussing the proposition one of us suggested that maybe we could get them up through the chimney. We dropped a rope down the chimney which connected with a big fire place in the sitting room, and the family were hauled out to safety, one at a time through the chimney."

"That is now one of the reasons why in our section of the country you never see every house equipped with a porch on the second story. This is done so in case of another big storm the family won't have to enter and emerge through a window all the time."

"That must have been some snow storm," said one of the others as the stranger paused for breath.

"That sure was a great winter," said the stranger who again plunged into his narrative, "and every one in our neighborhood got so proficient in the use of snow shoes, that when it grew towards summer again we had a difficult job to accustom ourselves to the ordinary means of locomotion."

"And before the snow disappeared in the spring we had some of the best hunting I ever experienced. One day we went out on our snow shoes and were traveling along a ridge when one of our party suddenly shot out of sight. We found that he had fallen through a big hole in the snow."

"When I tell you what caused that hole in the snow you will hardly believe me, but I am telling you the truth. A herd of deer had become caught in the snow storm, and the only thing that saved them from death was the fact that they were huddled so close together that every time they breathed they sent up such a volume of that air that it actually blew a round hole through the snow, and allowed the fresh air to get to them."

"As we were all kind hearted fellows it did not seem like being a good sport to shoot them when they had no chance for their life so we decided to teach them to use snow shoes, and before the winter was over we had them so well trained that they strapped snow shoes on their feet and they could travel faster than we could."

"I suppose you shot them all on snow shoes," interrupted one of the lodgers.

"The funny thing about that," sighed the stranger "was that after we had trained them we did not have the heart to shoot them."

"What kind of deer were they?" asked another lodger.

"They called them the snow shoe deer," confessed the stranger as he rolled over in his bunk and was soon sound asleep.

NEGROES IN FLORIDA IN 1828

Two Africans Were Members of Negro Expedition of That Year.
According to History.

The first record of Negro slaves within the present boundaries of the United States is found in an account of the Spanish expedition of Narváez to Florida in 1528, which included two Negroes. But the Negro was not in Florida to stay until 1528, when a few landed with Menéndez's colonists. It is believed the Spaniards had Negroes with them in their unfortunate colony of San Miguel de Guadalupe in 1528, which J. J. Shea locates in the neighborhood of Jamestown, Va. H. H. Bancroft, in his "Arizona and New Mexico," makes it clear the Negro was in some of the early exploration and missionary parties to that territory. Doubtless the Negroes continued in the province until the Spaniards were driven out in 1565. ("Introduction of Negroes into the United States," by C. A. Stakely, in Magazine of American History, November, 1891). The Treasurer, owned by the earl of Warwick, and a Dutch vessel brought slaves to Jamestown in 1619. The Treasurer is supposed to be the first slave ship to arrive in America. The first American-built slave ship was the ship Delia, a vessel of 120 tons, built at Marblehead in 1696. ("The American Slave Trade," by J. R. Spears.)

NOT ALWAYS EASY TO READ

At Certain Times Robert Louis Stevenson's Manuscript is Said to Have Been "Weird."

Robert Louis Stevenson's handwriting was fairly legible when he felt well, although when he was not well his script was distinctly weird. In his article on the genesis of "The Master of Ballantrae," he speaks of having been haunted by a story "conceived in Highland rain, in the blend of the smell of heather and bog plants, and with a mind full of the Athol correspondence and the memories of the duncie justice."

When One Is Rich.

Possessions are synonymous with "riches." One is rich who has great possessions. But possessions are many and varied. A person may have much money, and be very poor. A person may have little of the goods of this world, and yet be rich. Possessions are both material and spiritual. Material riches of themselves can do little. No matter how much money a person has, that money alone cannot accomplish much. Money cannot buy friendship, mercy, money cannot give its owner an amiable temperament, literary taste, or moral worth. Money for individuals, collectively can accomplish nothing without mind and soul put with that money. Somebody must furnish these spiritual riches.—Grit.

In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Eliza M. Hull, who entered into rest, six years ago today, January 19, 1916.

When a mother breathes her last farewell, The parting means more than words can tell, You don't know the sorrow to be left alone, Till God sends a message to your home, It's sad when he calls for one another, But the worst blow of all, is when, God calls your mother.

No one knows the silent heartache Only those who have lost can tell Of the grief that is born in silence For the one who we loved so well.

Sadly missed, but fondly remembered.

For a Young Architect.

Among the first habits that a young architect should learn, is that of thinking in shadow, not looking at a design in its miserable liney skeleton; but conceiving it as it will be when the dawn lights it, and the dusk leaves it; when its stones will be hot, and its crannies cool; when the lizards will bask on the one, and the birds build in the other. Let him design with the sense of cold and heat upon him; let him cut out the shadows, as men dig wells in unwatered plains; and lead along the lights, as a founder does his hot metal; let him keep the full command of both, and see that he knows how they fall, and where they fade. His paper lines and proportions are of no value; all that he has to do must be done by spaces of light and darkness; and his business is to see that the one is broad and bold enough not to be swallowed up by twilight, and the other deep enough not to be dried like a shallow pool by a noon-day sun.—John Ruskin.

Explosives Place Ship's Bolts.

In the performance of some government work it was found necessary to find a bolt or manner of placing a bolt so that it would withstand unusually high shearing stresses, and two successful methods were devised. In order to make an absolutely faultless fit of the bolt in the first case the bolts were immersed in liquid air until they contracted sufficiently to enter the holes quite easily, but when they had gained their normal temperature again they expanded to such an extent that the holes were filled. The other scheme consisted of making a small hole along the axis of the bolt and, after it had been placed, the hole filled with explosive, and when this was discharged the bolt was expanded and caused to grip the plates. Subsequent tests proved that each of these methods filled the unusual demands.

The Land of Wonders.

Shasta county, California, is the land of wonders. The latest is the dancing egg. It is laid by an as yet undetermined insect on the leaves of oak trees. Masses of these eggs, clinging to the under side of the leaf and as they advance toward maturity they drop to the ground and dance about. By holding an oak twig containing any number of eggs to one's ear a crackling sound may be heard, like the spitting of electric sparks. The shell contains a tiny grub, working for release. In many towns collections of the eggs are on exhibition. When laid on a table these eggs bound about and spring into the air, sometimes to a height of 16 inches. They are particularly active in the early morning.

Why Coins Are Milled.

The milling round the edges of coins, B. K. (Woodville), was introduced just over two centuries ago in this country. Previous to that time quite a number of people made a considerable income by filing a little piece off each gold and silver coin that passed through their hands. Things became so bad that coins often lost a quarter of their weight within a few months of issue. Even the strictest laws and the most terrible punishments failed to stop the practice, and our coinage became hopelessly debased. Milling coins put an end to it at once for you cannot chip or file a milled piece without giving the show away.

A Happy Couple.

"Darby and Joan" were an old-fashioned, conservative married couple, famous for their long life and domestic felicity. They are said to have lived, over a century ago, in Healdsburg, a village in the West of England, of Yorkshire. Darby and Joan are the hero and heroine of a ballad "The Happy Old Couple," of uncertain authorship, although sometimes ascribed to Matthew Prior. According to another authority, however, the original was Henry Woodfall, printer of Bartholomew Close, who died in 1730, and his wife Joan. Woodfall was an apprentice in the service of John Nelson Darby, an English theological writer.

In Those Days.

It was a merry place, London, in those days and that's the truth. There was a difference between a gentleman and a common fellow in those times. We were sick and embroidery were now every man had the same coachmanlike look in his belt and cap and coat, and there is no outward difference between my lord and his groom. Then it took a man of fashion a couple of hours to make his toilet, and he could show some taste and genius in the selecting it. What a show of splendor was a drawing-room or an opera, of a gala night!

Cruciferous Rays.

The beams of light sometimes seen radiating from the sun when not far from the horizon are called "cruciferous rays." They are due to rays of light passing through breaks in the clouds and made visible by dust or fine drops of water in the air. Their apparent divergence is an effect of perspective. The phenomenon is popularly described as "the sun drawing water." Sailors speak of the "sun's back-rays," while farmers write of the "boy-fingered dawn."

Unquestionably True, in Part.

A recent editorial note in a newspaper published in a large New England town made this startling statement: "Dante, who is being honored with world-wide observances this year, and who wrote many important works, is chiefly known as the author of 'Paradise Lost.'" The note concludes, however, with this happy sentence: "His books will well repay every one's study."

Money From Bohemia.

In 1920 there were 80,000 apartments containing 450,000 lives and 120,000 swarms, in Czechoslovakia, according to returns from the office of statistics, says a report from Trade Commissioner Breed. The money produced amounted to 700 metric tons, valued at 16,200,000 crowns, and the way to 58 metric tons, valued at 1,800,000 crowns.

California's Mountains.

At least 90 mountains in California rise more than 13,000 feet above sea level, but they stand amid a wealth of mountain scenery so rich and varied that they are not considered sufficiently noteworthy to be named, according to the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. Yet if any one of these unnamed mountain peaks were in the eastern part of the United States it would be visited annually by millions of people. But California has 70 additional mountain peaks more than 13,000 feet high that have been named, or 130 in all, as well as a dozen that rise above 14,000 feet.

Taming Toads and Snails.

Given sufficient patience, there are few living creatures which can not be domesticated to some extent. In England a man has taught some water-snails to show signs of reasoning. Even insects show themselves quite capable of appreciating kindness. There is a record of a lady who tamed a butterfly, with very interesting results. Lord Avey, some time ago told how he tamed a Syrian wasp. A toad was taught to live in a little house which was made for him in a strawberry patch and to recognize his friends.

Heated Winds.

An intensely dry, hot wind called the "Zonda," which blows down from the Andes upon the plains of Argentina, was formerly thought to owe its heat to volcanoes. It is really a "foehn," such as occurs in Switzerland and many other mountainous countries, where winds, robbed of their moisture in crossing the mountain, are heated by compression during their descent.

Financial Symbols.

The symbols of the Latin word, Libra, and the Latin word, Solidi, and the Latin word, Denarii, have come down to us from the time when all legal documents were written in Latin. Words have their ups and downs. Libra became in France livres.

That Word "Pigeon-English."

To the Chinese we owe the compound word, "pigeon-English," the Chinese dialect in use at Chinese ports between natives and American and English traders.

The Chinese use the word pigeon or "pidgein" to supply the place of English nouns unknown to them.

Those ingenious orientals call a concert a "sing-song pidgein" and a conversation a "talker pidgein."

With the Increasing Interference between the Chinese and English speaking persons, and with the progress of education in China, real English is taking the place of the "pidgein" variety. But "pigeon-English" still survives, especially in fiction and on the stage.

Crackers of Various Kinds.

There are various curiosities in the way of foreign crackers, or biscuits, as they are sometimes called. It may be remarked, by way of preface that biscuit is French for "twice cooked," and is etymologically the same as the German zwieback. The Italians make all their crackers in this way, the varieties familiar to us not being in common use with them. Italian bakers save all their old bread and convert it into "biscuit" of this kind. For this reason the bread largely used in Italian and Sicilian restaurants is so made that pieces may be broken from the loaf without making a jagged end.—New York Herald.

Embarrassing Verily!

One neighbor is a queer old bachelor, and not having seen him on in his yard, I decided to investigate, writes a correspondent. Not finding him in the house, I went out to the barn, and there in the shadows I saw a body hanging from the rafters. I was so excited I ran for help. In five minutes the whole town had gathered there. I led the way into the barn and found it to be my neighbor's scarecrow, stored for the winter. And to make matters worse, the old gentleman dove up just then and wondered at all the company. I had to explain, and the laugh was on me.

Chicago Jews Make Record

Subscription to Succor

Destitute European Brethren

JACOB M. LOEB JULIUS ROSENWALD

The Jewish residents of Chicago have just set a new record. In a few weeks they raised the sum of $1,810,000 for the hundreds of thousands of destitute Jews in the war-torn, famine-stricken areas of Eastern Europe. This great sum was the result of a money-raising campaign such as the city had never seen before. Bankers, and artisans, multi-millionaires and clerks worked as volunteers side by side. Mrs. Joseph Fish led a division of 1,500 women workers who contributed materially to the total.

The money was raised for the $14,000,000 national fund being gathered by the American Jewish Relief Committee to aid the Jewish population in Eastern Europe, who, three years after the armistice, are in worse straits than ever as the result of wars, civil strife, famine and pestilence. Chicago's quota was fixed at $750,000. But after Jacob M. Loeb, former president of the Board of Education, had given up his manifold business interests to assume the chairmanship of the campaign, and Julius Rosenwald, the noted Jewish philanthropist, became honorary chairman, the two insisted that the quota be doubled to $1,500,000. "And Chicago will go over that," they declared.

To the few faint hearts who hunted at hard times, they said, "Suppose you were starving?" That became the slogan of the campaign.

At a preliminary banquet Mr. Rosenwald made the modest announcement that for every $100,000 subscribed he would give one. A few days later one of the largest public meetings ever held in Chicago took place in Sinai Temple. More than a thousand were turned away from the overflow meeting. That night Chicago set a new record in giving. In less than 30 minutes over $600,000 was pledged.

Then Mr. Loeb began bombarding the Jewish residents of Chicago with his question, "Suppose you were starving?" It came to them in their morning mail. It faced them in posters and advertisements. Several hundred wealthy Jews were invited to a banquet at a leading hotel. They found themselves in a dining hall dimly lighted by candles, where they were seated on bare benches at pine round tables, without cloth, glass or china, and it spread without food. The grim, foodless banquet made a profound impression.

Of the total raised Mr. Rosenwald's subscription was $226,000.

To the few faint hearts who hunted at hard times, they said, "Suppose you were starving?" That became the slogan of the campaign.

At a preliminary banquet Mr. Rosenwald made the modest announcement that for every $100,000 subscribed he would give one. A few days later one of the largest public meetings ever held in Chicago took place in Sinai Temple. More than a thousand were turned away from the overflow meeting. That night Chicago set a new record in giving. In less than 30 minutes over $600,000 was pledged.

Then Mr. Loeb began bombarding the Jewish residents of Chicago with his question, "Suppose you were starving?" It came to them in their morning mail. It faced them in posters and advertisements. Several hundred wealthy Jews were invited to a banquet at a leading hotel. They found themselves in a dining hall dimly lighted by candles, where they were seated on bare benches at pine round tables, without cloth, glass or china, and it spread without food. The grim, foodless banquet made a profound impression.

Of the total raised Mr. Rosenwald's subscription was $226,000.

JACOB M. LOEB JULIUS ROSENWALD

The Jewish residents of Chicago have just set a new record. In a few weeks they raised the sum of $1,810,000 for the hundreds of thousands of destitute Jews in the war-torn, famine-stricken areas of Eastern Europe. This great sum was the result of a money-raising campaign such as the city had never seen before. Bankers, and artisans, multi-millionaires and clerks worked as volunteers side by side. Mrs. Joseph Fish led a division of 1,500 women workers who contributed materially to the total.

The money was raised for the $14,000,000 national fund being gathered by the American Jewish Relief Committee to aid the Jewish population in Eastern Europe, who, three years after the armistice, are in worse straits than ever as the result of wars, civil strife, famine and pestilence. Chicago's quota was fixed at $750,000. But after Jacob M. Loeb, former president of the Board of Education, had given up his manifold business interests to assume the chairmanship of the campaign, and Julius Rosenwald, the noted Jewish philanthropist, became honorary chairman, the two insisted that the quota be doubled to $1,500,000. "And Chicago will go over that," they declared.

Hospital following an illness which developed after he had tried self-treatment for inflammation resulting from contact with gasoline containing an anti-freezing mixture. Bailey was employed at the auto repair shop of his father, Edward V. Bailey, at Catskill. Three weeks ago he was examining an automobile when some gasoline containing the anti-freezing mixture dripped in his ear. Inflammation was followed by an abscess. Bailey's physician prescribed treatment and put him on a diet, but Bailey preferred self-treatment with preparations which he purchased. For the purpose of putting him under more rigid treatment and not because he considered his condition serious, Bailey's physician advised him to enter the Albany hospital. Bailey is survived by his parent, his wife, two small sons and a sister.

Nathaniel Nash, an old and respected citizen of West Hurley, died at his home Thursday, January 12. The funeral was held on Monday.

YANKEES TRY TO PATCH HOLES

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Jan. 19.—The line-up the Yankees will put into the field when the 1922 season gets under way is far from settled.

It is a problem that is perplexing Manager Huggins and Owners Ruppert and Huston, it became known today for they have apparently given up all hope that Ruth or Menzel will be available before May 20, when the suspension against them will terminate.

With two big holes in the outfield defense the Yanks must patch up a team as best they can, and if they expect to get away to a flying start in an effort to repeat their 1921 victory, they will have to have a strong punch, for there will be no less than three capable teams battling them for whatever early advantage may be won in the first month or so of the pennant race.

As a result of their problem, Colonels Ruppert and Huston are out scouting for more players. Col. Ruppert is now in Chicago where it is said he is trying to make a dicker of some sort with the White Sox. And Colonel Huston is said to be on his way to the windy city to join Ruppert. Rumor says the Yanks are trying to land Outfielder Falk from Comiskey. But it is only a rumor. It is known that the Yankee Colonels are still in hopes of grabbing Veach from Detroit but they have not yet made the right offer to Owner Navin.

The Yanks want outfielders for another reason. Ruth, his said, wants to play first base next season and has insisted that he be given the job. If Huggins humors the big fellow, it is plain to be seen that more fielding talent will be necessary to give the Yanks the proper balance.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Popular Apron Dress.

Pattern 3468 is here portrayed. It is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 32-34; medium, 36-38; large, 40-42; and extra large, 44-46 inches bust measure. The width at lower edge is 2 yards. A medium size will require 6 yards of 36 inch material.

Gingham, chambray, lawn, linen, percale, sateen, drill, alpaca and seersucker could be used for this design. The model is made with reversible closing and may be finished with wrist length or elbow sleeves. It may be worn over a dress, but serves as well in place of a dress.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

THE OFFICE CAT

"No beer, no work" wasn't very successful as a protest, but it was an excellent prophecy.

You don't have to work hard to get rich. You don't have to get rich.

A Lawyer's Love. "Harold, do you love me? Do I come before everybody?" "I'll say you do," declared the young lawyer. "You are the party of the first part."—Judge.

"Is this a fast train?" the salesman asked the conductor. "Of course it is," was the reply. "I thought it was. Would you mind going out to see what it is fast to?"

"Treat 'em rough," may be a good enough slogan for fighting men, but we hate to see our laundryman adopt it.

Freddie—"What's the matter, can't you skate?" Edna—"I'm trying for the first time!" "I don't know yet, I can't stand up long enough to find out."

Many a man who used to allow his horse to stand out in the cold is now careful to cover the radiator of his car.

Hardly the Thing. "Why did you fire the door-walker?" "The lady asked for bric-a-brac and he sent her to the crockery department."

The Idea. "This motion picture producer has a worried look." "And well he may have." "How so?" "His most beautiful bathing girl has suddenly become ambitious. She wants to wear clothes and act."

The prize for optimism ought to go to the ex-soldier we heard the other day. "The Germans got my leg, a slacker got my girl, but the man doesn't live who can get my goat," he said.

Leave it to Dad. "Yes, dear." "Mother?" "Tell me a fairy story before I go to sleep, will you?" "Wait till your father comes home, dear, and he'll tell us both one."
